This book tells the story of the Southern Baptist missionaries who went to China in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. These missionaries played a major role in the spread of Christianity in China, and their work had a profound impact on the lives of countless Chinese people.

The book is based on extensive research, and it provides a fascinating look at the lives and work of these missionaries. The author has interviewed dozens of former missionaries and their families, and he has also consulted a wide range of archival materials.

The book is divided into three parts. The first part provides a historical overview of the Southern Baptist missionary movement in China. The second part tells the stories of individual missionaries, and the third part examines the impact of the missionaries' work on Chinese society.

This book is a valuable resource for anyone interested in the history of Christianity in China, and it is also a moving and inspiring story of faith, courage, and sacrifice.
